About the Teacher: Christine DePierro-Gacek is a CT Certified teacher and educator. She has taught high school biology, Marine science, and Environmental Science. Christine has also volunteered in Rwanda in primary schools and the Mountain Gorilla Veterinary Project, helping to organize and run health education programs. Christine currently has two small children and works as a Public Health Educator. Christine combines her love for nature, love of children, and her background in science education in this exciting new program where small children and their caregivers can learn about, enjoy and spend time in nature.
